Beads, Beads, Beads

My name is Emily the entrepreneur, and I already have a business. It is a crafting business. I also have 2 other little tiny businesses that are dog sitting and house cleaning. I sell necklaces, bracelets, key chains, snow globes, picture frames, change purses, holiday ornaments, and holiday cards.

When people come to me to buy things from my business they will receive a written guarantee. If something they buy from me breaks, they can bring it back to me, and I will repair it.

My prices for dog sitting are: $2.00 an hour, cats are $1.50 an hour, hamsters are $1.00 an hour, fish and birds are 50 cents an hour. If you have any other animals, you can call me and I'll give you a price. For house cleaning it is only $1.50 an hour, but you have to have your own cleaning utensils. I don't need a lot of workers because I am the one that makes every thing and does the animal sitting and the house cleaning. I might want someone to help me with the house cleaning; for example if the person that I'm cleaning for wants me to do sweeping and mopping it would be easier to have 2 people - 1 to do sweeping and I could do mopping. If I have lots of dogs to sit, then my employee could give some of the dogs his or her attention and I would be giving the other dogs attention. Also if I'm sick, my other employees can do my job for a day, and I would pay them more than they would normally get. I will pay my workers $4.50 an hour because my business is still kind of small. I will give half of my money to my parents for rent and electricity bills.

When I get older my business could become very popular, and I will even buy my own little building. On the front in big letters it will say, "Haley Law's Crafts on it. In tinier letters it will also say animal sitting and house cleaning available. For an extra 50 cents I will deliver ordered crafts to the buyers. I hope you enjoyed listening to my entrepreneurship.
